Chapter 2

Police Activity League

Message from the Calhoun Clan

Dear Boys and Girls,

There are all kinds of families in the world. Some have a mom and a dad. Some have only a mom or only a dad. Some kids even have grandparents, friends or relatives raising them. And some children live in foster homes.

A foster family is a special kind of family. To “foster” means to take care of someone - or something – and help it grow. Foster parents are people who take in children who are not their own and give them a safe place to live, food to eat and clothes for school and play. If you are sick, your foster parents take you to the doctor. They make sure you keep up with school, even if you are only with them a short time.

In this story you will read about our foster family – the “Calhoun Clan” - and discover how PAL and Mama Calhoun made a difference in our lives!

Your PALs,

Tyson Emily Javier Katrina Robert
